Welcome from the local organisers...

Dear colleague

I would like to extend a warm welcome to the 8th ECPR General Conference.

This is a particularly important year for the city of Glasgow, and for Scotland in general. Earlier in the summer, Glasgow hosted the Commonwealth Games, but more importantly, on 18 September, a referendum will be held to determine whether Scotland wishes to remain in the United Kingdom of Britain and Northern Ireland. These are certainly pertinent issues for Nicola Sturgeon, deputy Minister of Scotland, who will be delivering the Welcome Address. They will also be touched upon in the Keynote Lecture from Iain McLean (University of Oxford) and in one of the Featured Panels on Thursday, in which we have brought together senior scholars from various Scottish universities.

Founded in 1451, the University of Glasgow is the fourth-oldest English speaking University in the world, boasting alumni including Lord Kelvin and Adam Smith. This tradition of excellence continues today, with a bold and thriving campus of more than 23,000 students from 120 countries. Research remains a key focus, with 2,000 active researchers generating an annual research income of £177m.

Reflecting these traditions, the Department of Politics has always been committed to producing theoretical insights through cross-cutting research that spans the sub-fields of our discipline. Our two Roundtables, Democracy and its Discontents chaired by Sarah Birch and Contested Human Rights chaired by Kelly Kollman, not only point to the excellent research conducted by our staff, they also attest the plurality of approaches in our field.

Glasgow, recently voted friendliest city in the UK, offers an array of social activities to supplement the academic programme. Enjoy a dram of whisky while tapping along to some folk music, dine and shop in one of the least expensive cities in Europe, explore one or more of our wonderful parks and museums. Charles Rennie Mackintosh, the Glasgow-born architect, designer and artist, is celebrated around the world as one of the most creative figures of the twentieth century. In true Glaswegian style you could go to the stadium to support one of our famous football clubs: Celtic and Rangers of course, but I can keenly recommend Partick Thistle myself. To make your experience even more memorable, you can enjoy one of the tours in the Highlands: I cannot guarantee you will meet Nessie at Loch Ness, but it is worth a try!

Finally, my most sincere thanks go to all the individuals and institutions that have contributed to this year's programme, particularly the Glasgow City Marketing Bureau and Glasgow Conference & Visitor Services Office.

I wish you a productive conference and an enjoyable stay in Glasgow.

Dear Colleague

On behalf of the ECPR, we would like to welcome you to its 8th General Conference. We hope you enjoy the rich and diverse programme, which this year features 66 Sections and around 400 Panels; the Keynote Lecture Parliaments in Fiscal Federalism: Spending too Much, Taxing too Little?; two Roundtables on Democracy and its Discontents and Contested Human Rights; several featured Panels; numerous social events, including the Opening Reception at Kelvingrove Gallery; a large book exhibition; and many Standing Group meetings.

This Conference, now held annually, has established itself as the largest regular event for European political science, with over 2,000 participants and steadily growing submissions for Sections, Panels and Papers. Calls for next year's conference at the University of Montreal will go out very soon.

We are very grateful to all those involved in the organisation of this event. Special thanks to the Section Chairs, the local organisers, and ECPR Central Services.

We wish you all a great conference!

Jonas Tallberg (above) is Professor of Political Science at Stockholm University, where he co-directs the research group on global and regional governance. His primary research interests are global governance, EU politics, and institutional theory.

Most recently, he co-authored The Opening Up of International Organizations: Transnational Access in Global Governance (CUP, 2013). He has been a visiting scholar at Harvard University, McGill University, the Social Science Research Center Berlin, the Institute for Advanced Studies Vienna, the Centre for Advanced Study Oslo, the European Commission, and the Swedish Institute of International Affairs.

Professor Tallberg has been awarded research grants from the European Research Council, the Fulbright Commission, the Humboldt Foundation, the Swedish Research Council, and the Nordic Research Academy.

He currently serves on the ECPR Executive Committee and on the Steering Committee of the ECPR Standing Group on the European Union.

Klaus H Goetz (right) holds the Chair in Political Systems and European Integration at the University of Munich. He previously taught at LSE and at the University of Potsdam. He has held Visiting Professorships at Humboldt University Berlin, the University of Tokyo, the Institute of Advanced Studies Vienna, Hebrew University Jerusalem, and Sciences Po Bordeaux, and he was a Fernand Braudel Fellow at EUI.

Professor Goetz's work focuses on the comparative analysis of European politics and public policy, with particular interest in state institutions.

His most recent publications include The EU Timescape (Routledge, 2012, edited with J Meyer-Sahling) and Performing to Type? Institutional Performance in the New EU Member States, edited with R Zubek. Most recently, he was awarded a grant by the German Research Foundation to work on time rules and horizons in second chambers.

He was local organiser of the 2009 ECPR General Conference in Potsdam and has been co-editor of the journal West European Politics since 2000.

The University of Glasgow

Founded in 1451, the University has fostered seven Nobel Laureates, one Prime Minister, and Scotland's inaugural First Minister

Over five centuries, it has maintained its commitment to world class research, and today is a member of the prestigious Russell Group of leading UK research universities and in the UK's top 10 earners for research. Its priority themes and multidisciplinary research networks bring researchers together with practitioners, policy makers and NGOs to create academic communities which focus on current issues and challenges.

Glasgow's distinguished history of teaching politics began in the 1760s, when Adam Smith gave a series of lectures on justice, police, revenue and arms. More recently, the University's traditional strengths in political theory and comparative politics have been expanded to include international relations, human rights, and political communication.

The main campus lies two miles from Glasgow city centre in the thriving West End, which boasts a wealth of Victorian architecture, museums, galleries and parks. Here you'll find world-famous restaurants, comedy clubs, and boutiques, alongside cafés and bars hidden down cobbled lanes.

The city of Glasgow

Glasgow is one of Europe's most vibrant, dynamic and stylish cities – a city of green spaces, great architecture and fine food

Glasgow is a distinctly cosmopolitan city, but it has a straightforward wit like no other. It's a curious blend of old and new; the historic Cathedral, City Chamber and University of Glasgow creating a unique skyline alongside the ultra-modern Hydro music venue, the Riverside Museum and the Sir Chris Hoy Velodrome.

The green city

Glasgow translates into Gaelic as 'Dear Green Place'. Living up to this appellation, the city is home to over ninety parks – more per head than any other city in Europe. Notable green spaces include Pollack Park, Glasgow Green, the Botanic Gardens, and Kelvingrove Park.

City of culture

Glasgow has earned the impressive accolade of UNESCO City of Music. It is home to the Royal

Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum

Scottish National Orchestra, the National Theatre of Scotland, the BBC Scottish Symphony Orchestra, the Scottish Opera and the Scottish Ballet. The city boasts more than twenty galleries and museums, most offering free admission. Kelvingrove Art Gallery & Museum alone houses 8,000 artefacts, and holds important collections of armoury and paintings, including Italian and Dutch Old Masters, and French Impressionists and Post-Impressionists.

The rich legacy of Glaswegian architect Charles Rennie Mackintosh, including the famous House for an Art Lover, continues to be synonymous with Glasgow's distinctive style.

Shopping and eating

A compact city, Glasgow is a cost-effective destination for visitors who want to explore on foot. You'll find world-class bistros, seafood restaurants and curry houses; and for those who love to shop, the 'Style Mile' – a square mile in central Glasgow with a huge variety of shops, from one-off boutiques to British and international chainstores.

To find out more, see the Glasgow City flyer in your red conference bag

The Mackintosh House: a meticulous reassemblage in Glasgow's Hunterian museum of interiors from the home of Charles Rennie Mackintosh

The European Consortium for Political Research

An independent scholarly association that supports the training, research and cross-national co-operation of political scientists

Events

Each year, the ECPR organises the Joint Sessions of Workshops, Summer and Winter Schools in Methods and Techniques, the Research Sessions, and the General Conference. A Graduate Student Conference is held biennially; the next is July 2016 in Tartu, Estonia.

Publishing

Complementing these events, and in some cases publishing research presented at them, is the ECPR's extensive publishing portfolio. It has its own publishing imprint, ECPR Press, and co-publishes three leading journals: European Political Science, European Journal of Political Research, and European Political Science Review.

It also publishes the high-profile book series Comparative Politics with Oxford University Press.

Standing Groups & Research Networks

These are groups of researchers, in many cases formed at ECPR events, with a shared scholarly interest. Some are small, maintaining only a website and mailing list; some organise major conferences and summer schools, and produce their own publications.

There are currently more than 40 Standing Groups, covering many sub-fields of the discipline. All are eligible to apply for grants to help with the organisation of the Group, and with the running of summer schools.

Prizes

Each year, the ECPR marks its members' achievements by awarding a number of prizes. These prizes cover the spectrum of a scholar's career, from the Jean Blondel PhD Prize to the Lifetime Achievement Award.

Membership

ECPR membership is institutional and currently comprises more than 340 universities concerned with the teaching and research of political science.

While membership is paid by the university, it is the individuals within it who receive the benefit; from Master's and PhD students, through to the most senior professor.

2015/16 calendar of events

4th Winter School in Methods and Techniques

13 – 20 February 2015
University of Bamberg

The ECPR's Methods School offers up-to-date methods training across the whole range of methodologies, and across different paradigms and approaches. Participants can follow a diverse training track of introductory and advanced courses, in various formats.

43rd Joint Sessions of Workshops

29 March – 2 April 2015
University of Warsaw

Participants meet in groups of 15 – 20 people for the duration of this annual event, for substantive discussion and creation of new research groups and publications.

Attended by around 600 participants, the Sessions are a key benefit of membership: only those from Full-Member institutions can propose to direct a Workshop, while Associate Members can co-direct with a Full Member.

5th Research Sessions

30 June – 3 July 2015
University of Nijmegen

A unique opportunity for small groups to come together to discuss a specific research project. Only groups from member institutions may apply; applicants from ECPR Standing Groups have priority.

10th Summer School in Methods and Techniques

Summer 2015 (dates tbc)
University of Ljubljana

High-quality training in a range of methods – quantitative and qualitative designs, and positivist and interpretative perspectives. By combining the Summer and Winter Schools, students can follow introductory, intermediate and advanced training.

9th General Conference

26 – 29 August 2015,
University of Montreal

The ECPR's first-ever event outside Europe! Call for Section proposals goes live on 15 September 2014.

5th Winter School in Methods and Techniques

February 2016 (dates tbc)
University of Bamberg

44th Joint Sessions of Workshops

Spring 2016
date and location tbc

6th Graduate Student Conference

10 – 13 July 2016
University of Tartu

A biennial event that brings young scholars together for their first conference experience. Comprises Panels organised around a common Section theme. Participants are encouraged to take on the full spectrum of roles, from Section Chairs to Paper givers – or they can simply attend and observe. A lively social programme enables participants to make vital contacts.

The ECPR offers funding for all its events – see the Funding section of www.ecpr.eu under the Membership tab.

ECPR governance

The ECPR's Executive Committee (EC) is a Board of twelve Trustees, elected by the Council of Official Representatives every three years.

Drawn from ECPR Full-Member institutions, EC members are elected for a three-year term unless co-opted, in which case they must stand at the next election in order to continue for a further three years. Terms are staggered so that six members are elected every three years.

The Executive Committee is responsible for the day-to-day running of the Consortium as well as its long-term strategic development. To make this task more manageable, each member is given a portfolio for their three-year term, most of which have a sub-committee on which sits at least one other EC member and a Central Services counterpart.

The Executive Committee meets at least twice a year, at the Joint Sessions of Workshops in spring, and at the General Conference in early autumn.

ECPR Chair

The Chair is elected by the EC every three years, at the first meeting following election.

In recognition of the need to have a Chair experienced in ECPR business, in the preceding autumn the outgoing EC, elects a Chair Designate from those members who have another three years to serve. This person becomes the recommended Chair to the new EC, and ensures that the ECPR is led by someone experienced in working on the EC.

ECPR Director

In September 2013, Martin Bull of the University of Salford was appointed as the ECPR's first Director. Professor Bull manages Central Services staff, directs ECPR operations, and advises and assists the EC with the organisation's strategic direction.

Professor Bull has considerable experience in ECPR matters, having served as its Academic Director 2006 – 2013, and on its Executive Committee 2003 – 2006.

ECPR Graduate Student Network – Bringing young political scientists together

The GSN promotes interaction, support and exchange of ideas and experiences between junior researchers in the field of politics and social sciences. Membership is on an individual basis, and free! Any graduate student, PhD candidate or postdoctoral researcher enrolled at an ECPR Member institution is eligible to join.

Would you like to join our Committee?

The GSN Committee is looking for two new members in 2015, when two of the current members will be stepping down. If you are a PhD student from an ECPR Member institution, and would like to stand for election, please email Louise Soper – lhawk@essex.ac.uk – an expression of interest. This should contain your name, institution and email address, a description of what you can contribute to the GSN, examples of relevant experience, and any other information to support your application. Expressions of interest should be received by 1 October and will be posted on the GSN website. Online elections will take place via MyECPR between 15 October and 15 November.

Want to find out more?

Join us for an introduction to the GSN, 12:45 – 14:00 Thursday, Boyd Orr, Lecture Theatre B

Deputy First Minister Nicola Sturgeon welcomes participants to Glasgow, just days before Scotland's independence referendum

‘The eyes of the world are on Scotland as we decide our nation's future, and it is very welcome that more than 2,000 political scientists from near and far are here less than two weeks before the vote. We believe that our referendum process is of interest beyond Scotland, and the level of international attention certainly bears that out.’

Keynote lecture

The University of Oxford's Iain McLean on Parliaments in Fiscal Federalism: Spending too Much, Taxing too Little?

The imminence of the Scottish independence referendum prompts some general reflections on subordinate parliaments and fiscal federalism, which are discussed in this year's Keynote lecture by Iain McLean.

Typically, the power to tax lies with the upper tier of government (because it finds it easier to collect taxes), while much of the duty to spend, or pleasure of spending, lies with the lower tier of government, which is closer to the people and their needs.

But this sets up a classic moral hazard: under fiscal federalism, rational action by both orders of government leads their parliaments, in aggregate, to spend too much and tax too little.

There generally follow unproductive games between the orders of government, as each seeks to blame the other. Some possible ways out of this dilemma are explored by Professor McLean.

Roundtables

Roundtable 1

Democracy and its Discontents

14:00 – 15:30, Friday 5 September, Bute Hall

Representation is the institutional cornerstone of most contemporary understandings of democratic practice. At the same time, traditional forms of political representation have faced numerous threats in recent years in connection with the decline of mass parties, rising political disaffection, policy constraints posed by globalisation and recent economic strains.

This Roundtable will consider current issues in representation at national and European levels, including aspects of representation related to institutional design, political accountability and public engagement with politics. Roundtable participants will be invited to reflect on the causes of challenges to representation and to evaluate measures that might be employed to address these challenges.

Roundtable 2

Contested Human Rights

14:00 – 15:30, Saturday 6 September, Bute Hall

Human rights claims have become ubiquitous in twenty-first century international society. International actors' reputations and notions of what it means to be democratic are more closely tied to human rights performance than at any point in history.

Despite the greater international prominence and importance of rights norms, such claims remain contested across different societies and within the international community more broadly. For example, while rhetorical commitment to human rights has grown dramatically since the 1980s, many scholars question the extent to which states and other actors comply with rights norms by translating words into deeds.

Further, as human rights principles have gained legitimacy over time, they have been applied to an ever-greater number of issues, often generating controversy over what a proper human rights claim entails.

This Roundtable examines the contested nature of the contemporary international human rights regime by exploring controversies surrounding the creation of new rights claims related to sexuality, migrants and the environment as well as older but still relevant debates about compliance with human rights principles.

At the heart of these controversies remains a fundamental debate about how truly universal rights claims are and the extent to which such universalising claims can be made to stretch beyond the western traditions that gave rise to them.

Featured panels

Featured Panel 1

State, Migration and Protest in Transnational Perspective: Contributions from Political Sociology

09:00 – 10:40

Thursday 4 September

709A/B Boyd Orr Building

This session explores substantive issues such as the neoliberal state; transnational migration and transnational protest movements; and state and democratic power, from the perspective of political sociology. It also addresses the general question of what political sociology contributes to the study of these phenomena. Authors and editors of ECPR Press books on these topics aim to assess the state of the discipline, and of the debates on these issues.

Books to be discussed include Niilo Kauppi (ed) A Political Sociology of Transnational Europe, Alfio Mastropaolo Is Democracy a Lost Cause?, Giuseppe Di Palma The Modern State Subverted, Gianfranco Poggi Varieties of Political Experience, Donatella della Porta and Alice Mattoni (eds), Spreading Protest: Social Movements in Times of Crisis; and Adrian Favell Immigration, Integration and Mobility (due late 2014).

Featured Panel 2

The Significance and Implications of the Scottish Independence Referendum

14:00 – 15:40 Thursday 4

September, Lecture Theatre, Humanities Building

This Panel will explore many of the major issues surrounding the Scottish independence question and its international significance.

Five leading scholars in the analysis of Scottish and European devolution, institutions, public opinion and public policy will offer brief presentations in their area of expertise, though the majority of the session will focus on addressing questions raised by the ECPR community of scholars in a Q&A format.

Featured Panel 3

Lives in and for Political Science

09:00 – 10:40 Friday 5 September
709A/B Boyd Orr Building

This session reflects on lifelong contributions to political science, and looks at how the work of certain scholars has an impact on substantive lines of research in politics and the way in which the discipline understands itself.

ECPR Press has recently published several volumes that, in different ways, analyse and celebrate the lifelong contributions to political science of scholars such as Joni Lovenduski, Peter Mair, Elinor and Vincent Ostrom, and Richard Rose. The panel will be discussing their contribution to political science.

Books to be discussed are Deeds and Words: Gendering Politics after Joni Lovenduski edited by Rosie Campbell and Sarah Childs; Choice, Rules and Collective Action: the Ostroms on the Study of Institutions and Governance by Elinor Ostrom and Vincent Ostrom, edited by Paul Dragos Aligica and Filippo Sabetti; and Richard Rose's 2013 memoir Learning about Politics in Time and Space.

Could your institution host a prestigious ECPR event?

If so, we'd love to hear from you.

It's a great way to generate positive publicity, attract corporate sponsorship, and help secure research funding.

You can strengthen civic ties, and build lasting relationships with political scientists across our global network.

Hone your skills at the ECPR Methods School

The ECPR's Winter and Summer Schools in Methods and Techniques offer world-leading training in research methods for political science and neighbouring disciplines

Good research requires a solid methodology; a belief key to the aims of the ECPR and the reason for the creation of its Methods School.

Launched in 2006, the ECPR's Summer School in Methods and Techniques quickly established itself as a leading event of its kind, paving the way for the first Winter School, in 2011.

Holistic training

The School's philosophy is to offer up-to-date training across the whole range of methodologies, and across different paradigms and approaches. By combining the Winter and Summer School, students and junior researchers can follow a diverse training track of introductory and advanced courses, in various formats.

Salient methods

Delivered by experienced Instructors and supported by dedicated Teaching Assistants, the School gives young scholars the methodological skills they need at the start of their career, while a lively plenary programme encompassing free course tasters, poster sessions, and the popular 'brown bag' events, complement the academic components.

Covering methods particularly salient for research in political science, the School caters to the needs of research at macro and micro levels. Courses cover quantitative and qualitative designs, and positivist and interpretative perspectives.

The Methods School involves intensive courses and lab sessions, which require a strong commitment from participants. The teaching language is English, in which all participants must be fluent.

good research requires good methodology,
a belief key to the ECPR's aims

Certification

The SSMT and WSMT host institutions grant, separately, ECTS Credits Certificates: up to 5 Credits for a two-week SSMT course, and up to 2 Credits for a one-week WSMT course. If you attend more than one event (over 2 – 3 years), the ECPR also issues a Certificate of Attendance, certifying participation at a sequence of two or three events.

Location, location

Following a three-year residency at the University of Vienna, in 2015 the Winter School moves to the Bamberg Graduate School of Social Sciences in Germany.

The Summer School currently takes place in Ljubljana, Slovenia, every July/August. Next year will be the event's tenth anniversary, and the ECPR will be organising a number of events and publications to mark this milestone in methods training.

Loyalty discount

Perhaps you took a course at this year's Summer School? Extend your studies to an advanced course in Bamberg and you'll benefit from a continuation of the expert teaching you received in Ljubljana, AND we'll throw in a loyalty discount! Visit www.ecpr.eu to see a full course list; registration opens 1 October.

To get regular email updates, please sign up to the Methods School mailing list in MyECPR.

Meet the academic convenors

Professor of political science at the Université catholique de Louvain, Benoît Rihoux (below) has taught comparative methods in institutions across the world. He is involved in numerous research projects around his own topics of specialisation (political parties, social movements, organisational change) as well as crises, community conflicts, national and European policies, organisational innovation, environmental risks, natural resource management, and policy evaluation.

Bernhard Kittel (above) is Professor of Economic Sociology at the University of Vienna. Previous engagements include the University of Oldenburg, the University of Amsterdam, the University of Bremen, and the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies in Cologne. His research interests cover collective decision-making, political economy, and comparative research methodology.

Derek Beach (above right) is an associate professor of Political Science at the University of Aarhus, where he teaches international relations and methodology. He has published on international negotiations, referendums, and European integration, and co-authored Process-tracing Methods: Foundations and Guidelines.

*Deeds and Words:
Gendering Politics
after Joni Lovenduski*

Rosie Campbell
Sarah Childs (Eds)

What difference do feminist political scientists and politicians make to political institutions, policy processes and outcomes? Deeds and Words answers this question, covering gender and parties, elected institutions and the state; quotas and recruitment; public opinion, and women's interests. Vignettes by politicians including Dame Anne Begg, Baroness Gould and the Rt Hon Theresa May add first-hand insight. A fitting tribute to the pioneering political scientist Joni Lovenduski.

Systems and Democracy: Selected
Writings of Peter Mair*
Peter Mair

Introduced by Ingrid van Biezen, with an intellectual portrait by Stefano Bartolini and Hans Daalder

A selection of celebrated comparativist Peter Mair's most influential writings, from considerations on the relevance of concept formation to the study of party systems and organisations, and from reflections on the democratic legitimacy of the EU to the future of party democracy.

Spreading Protest: Social Movements in Times of Crisis

Donatella della Porta
Alice Mattoni (Eds)

What do the Arab Spring, the Indignados and Occupy Wall Street have in common? What do they share with social movements of the past? This book explains how protests spread from one country to another, and why diffusion occurred in certain contexts but not in others. In doing so, it sheds light on the more general mechanisms of protest diffusion in contemporary societies, explaining how mobilisations travel from one country to another and from past to present times.

Choice, Rules and Collective Action: The Ostroms on the Study of Institutions and Governance

Elinor Ostrom
Vincent Ostrom

Paul Dragos Aligica
Filippo Sabetti (Eds)

This volume puts together works representing the main analytical and conceptual vehicles articulated by the Ostroms to create the Bloomington School. Their endeavours sought to 're-establish the priority of theory over data collection and analysis', and to better integrate theory and practice.

Deliberative Mini-Publics: Involving Citizens in the Democratic Process

Kimmo Grönlund
André Bächtiger
Maija Setälä (Eds)

The first book-length account of this booming phenomenon reviews their variety, discusses their weaknesses, and recommends ways to make them a viable component of democracy. The editors take stock of deliberative mini-publics' diverse practices, look at their preconditions, processes and outcomes, and assess critically their lack of policy impact.

Varieties of Political Experience: Power Phenomena in Modern Society

Gianfranco Poggi

The management of contemporary public affairs involves many centres of social power, engaged in complex, mutable relations that range from cooperation, to competition, to out-and-out conflict. This book emphasises the role played in these relations by political institutions in particular. It also considers the relations between politics at one end, and law, the public sphere, citizenship, and religion at the other.

ERIS – European Review of International Studies

ERIS seeks to be a journal to which those who wish to know what is happening in 'European' International Relations can turn. It aims to achieve this goal by an extensive review section of monographs published in European languages and review articles of the literature on substantive themes or significant developments in different European academic communities. Its other principal goal is to publish original articles and from time to time translations of existing major articles not readily available in English.

Alina Mungiu-Pippidi (ed.) The Anticorruption Frontline

The Anticorruption Report, vol. 2

How do we know when countries progress in controlling corruption so to adjust our policies? The authors show which instruments can be used to understand changes in institutional corruption and review some global success cases to see if what experts report is checked by facts on the ground. The book includes award winning new methodology as well as frontline reports from Ukraine, Turkey and Bulgaria.

Polish-German Relations

The Miracle of Reconciliation

The book constitutes a sociological analysis of the origins of the Polish-German antagonism in the nineteenth and twentieth century and of the process of overcoming it. The author discusses the role played by the religious and political leaders as well as of intellectuals of both nations and presents survey research data showing the marked improvement in mutual relations.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

Child Migration and Human Rights in a Global Age
Jacqueline Bhabha

"Bhabha challenges the wisdom of current approaches to the protection of children in the context of migration. This book is a major contribution to the field. Never before has so much rich material been pulled together in a single, easily readable, and enticing volume that has the rights of children at its core."

Susan L. Bissell, chief of child protection, UNICEF

978-0-691-14360-6 June 2014 Cloth £24.95

Ruling Russia

Authoritarianism from the Revolution to Putin
William Zimmerman

"A masterful survey of Soviet and post-Soviet political history. Zimmerman analyzes the successive phases of expansion and contraction of the circle of those who influence the choice of leaders and policies from Lenin through Putin. Written in a clear and forceful style, this is the first major overview of the continuities and changes in Russian leadership politics from 1917 to the present."

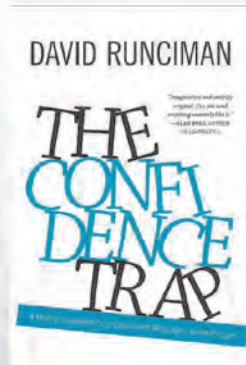

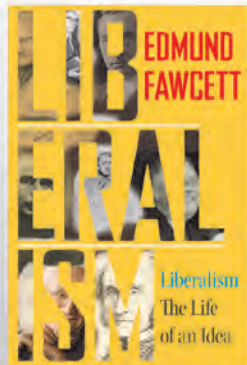

Thomas F. Remington, Emory University

978-0-691-16148-8 May 2014 Cloth £19.95

Liberalism
The Life of an Idea
Edmund Fawcett

Focusing on the United States, Britain, France, and Germany, the book traces how the distinct traditions of these countries converged on the practice of liberal democracy. An enlightening account of a vulnerable but critically important political creed, Liberalism will be a revelation for readers who think they already know - for good or ill - what liberalism is.

978-0-691-15689-7 June 2014 Cloth £24.95

The Confidence Trap

A History of Democracy in Crisis from World War I to the Present

David Runciman

Why do democracies keep lurching from success to failure? The current financial crisis is just the latest example of how things continue to go wrong, just when it looked like they were going right. In this wide-ranging, original, and compelling book, David Runciman tells the story of modern democracy through the history of moments of crisis, from the First World War to the economic crash of 2008.

978-0-691-14868-7 October 2013 Cloth £19.95

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS

Global Population
History, Geopolitics, and Life on Earth
Alison Bashford

Concern about the size of the world's population arose in the aftermath of World War I and was understood as an issue with far-reaching ecological, agricultural, economic, and geopolitical consequences. Global Population traces the idea of a world population problem, and shows how a geopolitical problem about sovereignty over land morphed into a biopolitical solution, entailing sovereignty over one's person.

978-0-231-14766-8 March 2014 Cloth £34.50

The Arab Uprisings Explained

New Contentious Politics in the Middle East
Edited by Marc Lynch

In this volume, leading scholars in the field take a sharp look at the causes, dynamics, and effects of the Arab uprisings. Compiled by one of the foremost experts on Middle East politics and society, The Arab Uprisings Explained offers a fresh rethinking of established theories and presents a new framework through which scholars and general readers can better grasp the fast-developing events remaking the region.

978-0-231-15885-5 September 2014 Paper £20.50

Losing Control?
Sovereignty in the Age of Globalization
Saskia Sassen

What determines the flow of labor and capital in this new global information economy? Who has the capacity to coordinate this new system, to create a measure of order? And what happens to territoriality and sovereignty, two fundamental principles of the modern state? Losing Control? is a major addition to our understanding of these questions.

978-0-691-10609-2 May 2014 Paper £17.50

Sectarian Politics in the Gulf

From the Iraq War to the Arab Uprisings
Frederic M. Wehrey

"Wehrey's new book offers a theoretically sophisticated and empirically rich overview of the politics of Sunni-Shiite relations across the Gulf. His extensive research on the ground across the Gulf comes through powerfully, as does his balanced analytical sensibility. It should be required reading for anyone interested in the regional politics of the Gulf"

Marc Lynch, Foreign Policy

INTERNATIONAL CENTER ON NONVIOLENT CONFLICT

WWW.NONVIOLENT-CONFLICT.ORG

ICNC is an independent, non-profit international educational foundation based in Washington, D.C. that develops and encourages the study and use of civilian, nonmilitary strategies aimed at establishing and defending human rights, democratic self-rule and justice worldwide

ICNC works with leading scholars, educators, organizers, journalists, and professionals of diverse backgrounds around the world to develop and disseminate a wide range of educational materials and academic initiatives on civil resistance.

In addition to conducting academic seminars, professional institutes, and other activities throughout the year, ICNC produces articles and studies on civil resistance to encourage better understanding of the dynamics, role and impact of nonviolent movements. The target audience of our work includes media producers, citizen journalists, civic activists, organizers and others struggling for rights and justice. We aim to provide them with knowledge and tools to apply civil resistance in their work, communities and societies.

Our resources — available via TV broadcast networks, the internet, in print, and more — aim to promote the history and ideas of nonviolent conflict in societies where rights or self-determination are at issue.

INTERNATIONAL

Rowman & Littlefield International is a new independent academic publisher focusing its publishing in Politics & International Relations, Economics, Cultural Studies and Philosophy, with an emphasis on interdisciplinary approaches.

Participatory Democracy in Southern Europe: Causes, Characteristics and Consequences
Edited by Joan Font, Donatella della Porta & Yves Sintomer

"Deploying a sophisticated multi-method approach, Font, della Porta, Sintomer and their colleagues take the study of participatory possibilities to a new level. A masterful guide to the emerging world of participatory innovation in Southern Europe." – John Dryzek, Australian National University

Published June 2014 | PB ISBN 9781783480746 | PB price: £22.95

Re-imagining a Politics of Life: From Governance of Life to Politics of Movement
By Leonie Ansems de Vries

Unearthing the radical potential at the heart of canonical political thought, this book explores the work of Foucault and Deleuze to re-imagine theory in a way that embraces difference and resistance.

Forthcoming November 2014 | PB ISBN 9781783481019 | PB price: £22.95

Engaging Enemies: Hayek and the Left
By Simon Griffiths

Engaging Enemies examines responses of the British left to Friedrich Hayek, one of the gurus of Thatcherism, and attempts to rethink socialism in response to neoliberalism.

Forthcoming November 2014 | PB ISBN 9781783481071 | PB price: £19.95

New series in Politics & International Relations

Experiments/On the Political*, edited by Iain MacKenzie

Exploring the creative potential of political theory, this series explores how interdisciplinary and/or practice-led ways of thinking can offer experimental ways of understanding politics and the political.

Frontiers of the Political*, edited by Engin Isin

This series contributes to our understanding of transversal political struggles beyond and across the borders of the nation-state, investigating habitus, practices, and acts that define new frontiers of contentious politics and political subjectivity.

Studies in Social and Global Justice*, edited by Ben Holland and Tony Burns

In partnership with the Centre for the Study of Social and Global Justice (CSSGJ) at the University of Nottingham, this series publishes interdisciplinary work that grapples with critical issues of social and global justice faced in the world today.

Feminist Institutional Perspectives*, edited by Fiona Mackay, Elin Bjarnegård and Meryl Kenny

In partnership with the Feminism and Institutionalism International Network (FIIN), this series combines insights from gendered analysis and institutionalist theory to expose, understand and explain the dynamics of gendered power inequalities in public and political life.

Redescriptions is unique in promoting 'political thought' as an approach which emphasizes the contestability of concepts and the role of rhetoric in the study of ideas. The name Redescriptions refers to a rhetorical move that alters a concept in one respect or another. The journal publishes articles from many disciplines, including political theory, history of ideas, feminist scholarship, philosophy and beyond. Political thought in various forms, whether challenging in philosophical, historical or contemporary terms has found its place in the journal. Above all, Redescriptions is known as a journal for politically inspired theoretical and historical work and theoretically challenging political thought. The main focus of Redescriptions is in the interdisciplinary area of politics, political theory, history, feminist theory, and philosophy.

LEADING TITLES

'Costas Simitis has been one of the most pro-European political leaders in Greece. In this book he charts the dramatic story of the Greek crisis. This is a lesson for Europe, particularly to those who want economic growth based on solidarity and employment. This is an important book for all progressive forces within the European Union.' (Massimo D' Alema, former Prime Minister of Italy)

The first English language translation of this investigation into the European debt crisis and the policy responses to combat it. Written from the unique perspective of Costas Simitis, who served as Prime Minister of Greece for eight years and also served as President of the European Council in 2003.
