Welcome from the local organising committee

Dear participants

On behalf of the local organising committee and the department, welcome to the University of Mainz. Hosting this event is a pleasure and an honour, and we have worked with ECPR Central Services and the Workshop Directors to put together an attractive programme.

I wish particular to thank the President, Professor Dr Georg Krausch; the Vice President (research), Professor Dr Ulrich Förstermann; the Dean of the Faculty Social Sciences, Media, and Sports, Professor Dr Stefan Aufenanger; and the entire department of Political Science. I am also grateful for the help of the city of Mainz itself.

We wish you an inspiring, productive and enjoyable stay here in Mainz.

*Univ-Prof Dr Kai Arzheimer
Head, Department of Political Science*

Dr Kai Arzheimer

Ladies and Gentlemen

It is a great honour to welcome you to Johannes Gutenberg-Universität Mainz.

As the only comprehensive university in Rhineland-Palatinate, JGU combines almost all academic disciplines under one roof, including the Mainz University Medical Center, the School of Music, and the Academy of Arts – a unique feature in the German academic landscape.

Just like the Joint Sessions of Workshops, JGU has a commitment to supporting young researchers, and to crossing the boundaries between nations and cultures.

*Univ-Prof Dr Georg Krausch
President, Johannes Gutenberg-Universität Mainz*

JOHANNES GUTENBERG UNIVERSITÄT MAINZ

With about 37,000 students from about 130 nations, Johannes Gutenberg-Universität is one of the ten largest in Germany.

The University offers courses in 147 subjects, with 127 Bachelor's and 103 Master's degree programmes. Some 4,150 academics, including 540 professors, teach and conduct research in JGU's more than 150 departments, institutes, and clinics.

JGU is the only German university of its size with almost all its facilities located on a single campus near the city centre.

The Department of Political Science at JGU looks back on a history of five decades of politics as an academic discipline in Mainz.

Institut für Politikwissenschaft

In the early 1960s, long before the social sciences became a recognised academic division in German universities, two chairs for the 'Science of Politics' were already established in Mainz – one in the Faculty of Philosophy, the other in the Faculty of Law. A decade later, these chairs were integrated into what became the Department of Political Science.

Today, the Department is a vigorous entity, home to around 40 faculty members, all dedicated to teaching and to research. Currently enrolled at the Department are 1,958 undergraduates and graduate students, along with several dozen junior researchers working towards a PhD in Political Science, as well as numerous Erasmus students from all around Europe and beyond.

Welcome from Simona Piattoni Chair, ECPR Executive Committee

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the ECPR's Joint Sessions of Workshops. The Joint Sessions are our oldest and most distinguished event, allowing hundreds of scholars to meet in closed workshops over the course of six days.

The format and tempo of the Sessions – and the fact that our social programme allows participants to enjoy their host city and get to know one another – may strike some as old-fashioned, but we believe these activities offer a unique opportunity for in-depth discussions, and the consolidation of scholarly relationships, that larger conferences rarely provide.

This year, the 41st Joint Sessions take place in Mainz, the ancient Mogontiacum. Named after Mogons, a Gallic God of great might, it is probably no coincidence that Mainz has an illustrious military history. Since Roman times, it has been a crucial military outpost at the confluence of the rivers Rhine and Main, and the Roman general Drusus, Celts, Alemans, Franks and Huns – not to mention Napoléon Bonaparte! – all recognised its strategic value.

Twice capital of an autonomous state, with an exceptionally early record of popular representation and two autonomous republican interludes, Mainz and its surrounding area have always been at the crossroads of history.

Mainz boasted the largest Roman theatre north of the Alps and a famous Roman bridge over the Rhine. But the city's greatest claim to fame is, of course, as the birthplace of the printing press.

Blacksmith Johannes Gensfleisch zur Laden zum Gutenberg invented the movable-type printing press in the 1440s. His invention ushered in an age of affordable book production that still thrives today. As ECPR Press publishers, authors and readers, we all owe a debt of gratitude to Johannes Gutenberg.

I should like to thank the local organising committee at JGU for their dedication – in particular President Georg Krausch and Head of Political Science Kai Arzheimer. I would also like to extend my gratitude to all event sponsors.

Lastly, I would like to thank Executive Committee member and Joint Sessions portfolio holder Manuel Sánchez de Dios, for his supervision of the long process that led to this event, and Marcia Taylor of ECPR Central Services, for her dedicated efforts.

To the more than 600 scholars who are convening in a record-high 33 workshops, I wish you all stimulating discussions, successful future publications, and an enjoyable stay in Mainz.

Encouraging the training,
research, and cross-
national co-operation of political scientists

About us

Established in 1970, the European Consortium for Political Research is an independent, scholarly association that supports and encourages the training, research and cross-national co-operation of political scientists through Europe and the rest of the world.

Events

To fulfil its remit, the ECPR organises a number of events each year: the Joint Sessions of Workshops, Summer and Winter Schools in Methods and Techniques, Research Sessions, and the General Conference, which from 2014, will become an annual event. A Graduate Student Conference is also held biennially; the next is 3 – 5 July 2014 in Innsbruck, Austria.

Publishing

Complementing these events, and in some cases publishing research presented at them, is the ECPR's extensive publishing portfolio.

The ECPR has its own publishing imprint, ECPR Press, and it publishes three leading journals: European Journal of Political Research, European Political Science Review, and its professional journal European Political Science.

The ECPR also publishes two high-profile book series, Comparative Politics and Research Methods, with academic publishers.

ECPR members receive print copies of all three journals and individuals enjoy significant discounts on all book series.

Standing Groups

The ECPR formalises its aim to create networking opportunities through its Standing Groups. These are groups of researchers, in many cases formed at ECPR events.

Some are small, producing only a mailing list or website; some are large, organising their own summer school or publishing their own journal.

The ECPR has more than 40 Standing Groups, covering all sub-fields of the discipline. All are eligible for grants to help with organisation and the running of summer schools.

Prizes

Each year, the ECPR marks the achievements of its membership by awarding a number of prizes. These cover the spectrum of a scholar's career, from the Jean Blondel PhD Prize, for example, to the Lifetime Achievement Award.

Membership

The ECPR's membership is institutional and currently comprises some 400 universities concerned with the teaching and research of political science. However, while membership is paid by the university, it is the individuals within it who receive the benefit; from Masters and PhD students, through to the most senior professor; and from all related disciplines, not just political science.

Joint Sessions of Workshops

41 years of bringing the profession together

With its unique format, and now in its 41st year, the Joint Sessions of Workshops are recognised as a highlight of the international political science calendar.

Taking place each spring, the Workshops are central to the ECPR calendar of events, and more in demand than ever.

The main aim of the Workshops is the participation and equality of endeavour between advanced students, younger and newer members of the profession and well established professors. To achieve this, the size of each Workshop is strictly limited.

Each participant is expected to be carrying out research in the field of the Workshop, so that he or she can present a paper or research document for discussion, as well as take part in the discussion of the other papers presented.

Participants may attend only one Workshop and should stay for the duration of the Joint Sessions.

The ECPR hopes that some of these Workshops will lead to publications and the creation of permanent Standing Groups, as well as to continuing collaboration between members.

The success of the Joint Sessions is not just measured in terms of numbers of participants but by the networks created and books published as a result.

2nd Winter School in Methods and Techniques

17 – 22 February

University of Vienna, Austria

The ECPR Winter School in Methods and Techniques features introductory and more advanced courses in a one-week format. Intermediate courses will continue to be held at the Summer School in Ljubljana (see below). Scholarships are available for ECPR members.

41st Joint Sessions of Workshops

11 – 16 March

Johannes Gutenberg-Universität, Mainz

The Joint Sessions have taken place annually since 1973 (see left). Workshops differ from a panel-based conference in that participants meet with the same group (15 – 20 people) for the duration – normally around five days – for substantive discussion and creation of new research groups and publications.

With a social programme running alongside the Workshops, and some 600 participants each year, the Sessions provide unrivalled chances for networking and collaboration.

This event is a key benefit of membership: only full members can propose to direct a Workshop, while associate members can co-direct with a full member. There is no conference fee for ECPR members and funding is available for travel and accommodation.

Research Sessions

9 – 12 July, University of Essex

The Research Sessions follow the format of the Joint Sessions of Workshops but are much smaller, with only around six groups meeting. Their purpose is to support groups (which must primarily be ECPR members, with priority given to Standing Groups) who are either at the early stages of a research project, or who are working on a book proposal.

8th Summer School in Methods and Techniques

25 July – 10 August

University of Ljubljana

The ECPR Summer School in Methods and Techniques provides high quality, up-to-date training in a broad range of specially selected methods across the spectrum of approaches employed in the social sciences. Scholarships and Travel & Accommodation Grants are available for ECPR members.

ECPR General Conference

4 – 7 September

Sciences Po, Bordeaux

The ECPR's first General Conference took place in Canterbury, UK, in 2001. Since then, General Conferences have been held every other year in a range of European cities.

The academic programme takes the standard conference format of Sections, of between three and eight Panels. Sections are organised around a common theme and major research questions.

Presenting a Paper in one of these Panels allows participants to present research to peers with common research interests and to benefit from the resulting discussion and debate.

In addition to Sections and Panels, there are round tables, symposia, a plenary lecture and an interesting social programme.

The General Conference brings together scholars from across all regional and national borders and all sub-disciplines of political science, providing a forum for rich discussion and the furtherment of research.

The ECPR's Executive Committee

The Executive Committee (EC) is the ECPR's Board of 12 Trustees, elected by the Council every three years. Each member of the EC is elected for a six-year term, unless they are co-opted, in which case they must stand at the next election in order to continue for a further three-year term.

The terms of EC members are staggered by three years, meaning that six new members are elected every three years.

The members of the EC are drawn from the full members of the ECPR. The Chair is elected by the EC every three years at the first meeting following election.

To facilitate continuity and in recognition of the need to have a Chair experienced in ECPR business, the outgoing EC, in the preceding autumn, elects a Chair Designate from those members who have another three years to serve. This person becomes the recommended Chair to the new EC. The process ensures that the ECPR is led by someone who already has three years' experience of working on the Executive Committee, and for the ECPR.

The Executive Committee is responsible for the day-to-day running of the Consortium as well as the formulation of long-term strategic development plans and activities.

To make this task more manageable, each EC member is given a portfolio for each three-year term. Most portfolios have a sub-committee chaired by the relevant member of the EC, on which sits at least one other EC member and a counterpart from Central Services.

The Executive Committee meets at least twice a year, at the Joint Sessions of Workshops in spring and the General Conference in the autumn.

The Jean Blondel PhD Prize

This year, the Blondel Prize is, for the first time, awarded jointly to Didier Caluwaerts (Vrije Universiteit Brussels) for his PhD Confrontation and Communication: Experiments on Deliberative Democracy in Linguistically Divided Belgium, and to Julian Wucherpfennig (Eidgenössische Technische Hochschule Zürich) for a PhD entitled Fighting for Change: Onset, Duration, and Recurrence of Ethnic Conflict.

The jury consisted of Robert Elgie, Piero Ignazi and Hanspeter Kriesi; Peter Kennealy, as the representative of ECPR Press, acted as chairman. They wish to recognise the multiple qualities of both dissertations.

Dr Caluwaerts' dissertation asks whether exercises in deliberative democracy in deeply divided societies reduce political conflict. Specifically, it examines whether different institutional rules affect the quality of deliberative democracy. Based on a highly innovative experimental research design, whereby small groups of people

Didier Caluwaerts

Julian Wucherpfennig

from the different linguistic communities in Belgium were brought together to debate contentious political issues, Dr Caluwaerts finds that the quality of deliberative democracy was as high in discussions held between linguistically divided groups as in those between homogeneous groups. He also finds that group decision-making rules were good predictors of deliberative quality in linguistically homogeneous groups, but were less so in divided groups. The jury was particularly impressed with the very careful research design and the clarity of the writing style, which makes the thesis accessible to both a professional and a wider audience.

Dr Wucherpfennig's dissertation examines the role of ethnicity in the onset, duration and recurrence of civil wars. It proposes a theoretically grounded grievance-based model in which the systematic denial of state benefits on the basis of ethnicity creates a collective demand for political change that can lead to conflict. It then submits this model to rigorous empirical testing and finds support for it.

The jury was impressed by the way Dr Wucherpfennig identified the potential impact of his findings. In contrast to much existing scholarship, which assumes that grievances are constant and ethnic conflict is inevitable, Dr Wucherpfennig's work suggests that if grievances can be accommodated, conflict can be avoided.

Blondel shortlist

2012 saw another record-breaking number of nominations for the Blondel Prize, the quality of which was extremely high. Shortlisting and selecting one winner proved impossible, hence our first jointly awarded prize.

All shortlisted theses make a significant contribution to their own field. Besides the winners, this year's shortlist comprised:

Carl Henrik Knutsen University of Oslo
'The Economic Effects of Democracy and Dictatorship'

Tom Louwerse Leiden University
'Political Parties and the Democratic Mandate: Comparing Collective Mandate fulfilment in the United Kingdom and the Netherlands'

Diego Garzia Università degli Studi di Siena
'Causes and Electoral Consequences of the Personalization of Politics in Western Democracies'

Till Webber European University Institute
'The Structuring Effect of Electoral Competition'

The Rudolf Wildenmann Prize

The Wildenmann Prize is awarded annually to the best original Workshop paper presented at the previous Joint Sessions. Candidates should be academics under 35 years of age, within five years of receiving their PhD.

At last year's Joint Sessions in Antwerp there were nine candidates, and the 2013 prize has been awarded to Jack Blumenau, University of Oxford, for his paper 'Agenda Control and Party Cohesion in the European Parliament' presented at the Workshop on Minority Rights and Majority Rule in European Legislatures.

The paper considers in a deep and exhaustive way every aspect of the topic. Blumenau adapts to the study of the European Parliament the Cartel Agenda Model of Cox and McCubbins, which emphasises the importance of negative agenda-setting powers to majority parties as a method of party member control. By means of the Median Party Agenda Model, Blumenau concludes that the party that takes the median position in the European Parliament tends to be highly cohesive and avoids divisive aspects of the legislative agenda.

The Hans Daalder Prize

The winners of the 2012 Prize were Katrin Schermann and Laurenz Ennser-Jedenastik, for their paper 'Linking Election Pledges to Policy Outcome – The Austrian Case'.

The judging committee felt the paper was well constructed and laudably well focused. They also judged its methodology well elaborated and easy to replicate.

Though the judges agreed that the paper could be improved in terms of theory, they felt that Schermann and Ennser-Jedenastik outlined relevant hypotheses well, and tried to test them empirically.

Within the limits of their approach, the authors succeed in showing that in certain institutional conditions, the likelihood of pledge fulfilment increases.

Katrin Schermann works at the Department of Government at the University of Vienna. She is a researcher in the Austrian National Election Study (AUTNES) team. In 2010, she also joined the project Political Economy of Reforms (SFB 884) at the University of Mannheim. She is currently writing her PhD thesis on party pledge fulfilment in Austria. Her research interests include coalition politics, party competition, and the political process of reform-making.

Laurenz Ennser-Jedenastik is also a researcher for AUTNES at the University of Vienna's Department of Government. His research focuses on parties, party competition, coalition politics, political appointments, and patronage. Laurenz's publications include articles in Governance, West European Politics, Party Politics, Political Studies, The Journal of Legislative Studies, and Local Government Studies.

The Stein Rokkan Lecture

Univ-Prof Dr Jürgen Falter
'Political Cleavages in the Weimar Republic and the Rise of National Socialism'

Abstract

(a) I will try to reconstruct from aggregate data the social foundations of Weimar voting behaviour, with a special emphasis on the rise of National Socialism at the polls;

(b) I will attempt to shed light on voting patterns, looking at variation within and across cleavage groups using a special brand of ecological regression analysis, again with particular emphasis on voter fluctuations towards and from the NSDAP;

(c) using individual membership data from the NSDAP master file, I will take a closer look at where the NSDAP party members came from, ie I will examine the hypothesis that the NSDAP recruitment of new party members was particularly successful in non-catholic and non-working-class surroundings.

The results of these closely intertwined social-historical analyses may be interpreted as both an application and a re-examination of Stein Rokkan's concept of cleavage structures.

Jürgen Falter is Senior Research Professor in the Department of Political Science at JGU, Mainz. He is also Co-Director of JGU's Center for Advanced Studies and was council member for the Deutsche Vereinigung für Politische Wissenschaft and a member of the advisory board for Zeitschrift für Soziologie.

Dr Falter's publications include the books The Behavioralism Controversy in American Political Science, 1945–1975 and Hitlers Wähler. Published articles include 'The Two Hindenburg Elections of 1925 and 1932: A Total Reversal of Voter Coalitions' and 'Economic Debts and Political Gains: Electoral Support for the NSDAP in Agrarian and Commercial Sectors, 1928–1933'.

Jürgen Falter has taught at Harvard, Johns Hopkins University (Italy), Freie Universität Berlin, University of Minnesota (Minneapolis) and, since 1993, at the University of Mainz.

Local public transport

JGU is a campus university and is integrated into the Mainz/Wiesbaden public transport network. There are various bus stops on and near campus. Friedrich-von-Pfeiffer-Weg and Universität are the most convenient stops for participants.

Bus lines 6, 6A, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 64, 65, 68, 69, 90, and 91 connect the campus with the central train station/city centre. During registration, participants can (and indeed should!) buy a conference ticket (€7, cash only) that gives them free access to all public transport (except long-distance trains) in the Mainz/Wiesbaden area for the duration of the conference from Monday to Saturday. Mainz/Wiesbaden has an extensive bus/tram network that provides by far the most convenient way to get from A to B (and back). See www.rmv.de to find out more.

Taxis

Ranks at Mainz Central (both entrances), Römisches Theater train station and various locations around the city. Or you can (pre-)book via telephone on +49-6131-910910 or online at www.taxi-mainz.de/online-bestellung.php

Venues on campus

All Workshops will be held on JGU's main campus, served by a number of bus lines.

The Arts & Humanities building, known locally as the Philosophicum, is the main conference venue, at which about 20 of our 33 Workshops will be held. This is also where you'll find the registration desk, central helpdesk area, and the book exhibition.

Interactive map

Locations of conference venues, hotels, stations and attractions at <http://tinyurl.com/cg7vsjc>

Cash

The local currency is (still) the Euro. While hotels normally accept credit cards, many shops, bars and restaurants insist on cash or debit cards. There are two cash machines on campus (marked on the interactive map with Euro symbols): one near the main gate; the other close to the canteen building, and many more in town. Cash machines usually accept Maestro, Master, and Visa (credit/debit) cards. Your bank might charge a fee to use them but you should be notified of this during the process.

Lunch / coffee

The university canteen Mensa is open Tuesday–Friday, 12.30–13.45. There is no need to buy vouchers or to pre-book.

Find Mensa on the campus at Staudingerweg 15; in the building follow signs for Theke IV, which is reserved for ECPR guests only. Cash accepted.

Practical information

Johann-Joachim-Becher-Weg 25

Dede's Campus Döner (kebab and pastries)
Staudinger Weg 21

For hot drinks, the EspressoCult truck will be by the Arts & Humanities building – cash accepted
More than 60% of the proceeds of the Viva Con Agua water on sale at the Joint Sessions go to www.vivaconagua.org, a charity that campaigns for clean drinking water worldwide.

Internet

The JGU Data Center (ZDV) runs the campus network. It operates a large number of PCs (for example, in the Philosophicum, P206, second floor). You are free either to use those public computers and/or to connect your own laptop via wireless LAN to the campus network.

Free wireless LAN is accessible in all university buildings as well as outdoors on campus. Find the username and password in your registration pack. Members of other universities participating in the European eduroam network can log in to the eduroam wireless LAN via the Johannes Gutenberg-Universität using the account of their home university.

Emergency

In case of an emergency, call 112. The switchboard will re-route your call to the police, the fire brigade, or the paramedics.

Childcare

We can arrange childcare for children from 6 months to 12 years of age. If you require childcare, please contact Jasmin Fitzpatrick in advance on +49 (0)6131 39-25485

About the city of Mainz

History

Mainz/Mayence was founded by the Romans 2,000 years ago. The Romans, Franks, French, Prussians and many other peoples all left their mark on the city. Although Mainz has been destroyed and rebuilt many times over the centuries, many historical buildings remain.

Mainz is the seat of the state government and parliament of Rhineland-Palatinate, a popular conference venue and one of the world's nine Great Wine Capitals. It is also home to several publishers and radio stations, and to Zweite Deutsche Fernsehen (ZDF), one of the largest public television broadcasters in Europe. In 2011, it was named German City of Science.

Mainz's university, polytechnics, academies, research institutes and art schools boast more than 40,000 students, who make for a young and lively city. Together with its close neighbour (and perpetual rival) Wiesbaden, Mainz is a conurbation of just under half a million people that forms part of Frankfurt Rhine-Main, Germany's second largest metropolitan region.

Local attractions

St Martin's Cathedral Domstraße 3
Vast 1,000-year-old Romanesque cathedral.
Monday–Friday 09.00–18.30, Saturday 09.00–16.00, Sunday 12.45–15.00 & 16.00–18.30

St Stephan zu Mainz Weißgasse 12
The church of St Stephan is home to the famous blue choir windows designed by Marc Chagall.

Monday–Saturday 10.00–17.00
Sunday 12.00–17.00

Gutenberg-Museum Mainz Liebfrauenplatz 5
Museum of printing, home to two Gutenberg bibles and a reconstruction of Johannes Gutenberg's printing press. Tuesday–Saturday 09.00–17.00; Sunday 11.00–17.00

Excursions

Guided tour: Gutenberg-Museum, St Martin's Cathedral, old town
Explore the pedestrianised historic centre of Mainz, including its Cathedral. At the Gutenberg-Museum you'll see a demonstration of printing on a replica of the press used by Johannes Gutenberg in the fifteenth century.
Thursday 14 March 13:00–15:00, 15€

Sparkling Wine: Kupferberg-Museum Mainz
At the Kupferberg Museum, wine and art are vividly interconnected. The display of antique glassware and a talk on the history of Kupferberg wine set the mood for your tour of the seven-level underground vaults. Finish with a tasting of the famous Kupferberg sparkling wine.
Thursday 14 March 13:00–14:15, 11€

Strolling through the Great Wine Capital Mainz
Walking tour through Mainz, visiting various places in the city connected with wine and roman traditions. Tour ends with a three-glass wine tasting in an extraordinary atmosphere.

New Synagogue of Mainz

Opened in 2010, the Synagogue is not only a new chapter in the Jewish history of Mainz (Magenza in Hebrew), it is also a building with an astonishing architecture. Designed by architect Manuel Herz, its silhouette is unique among German synagogues but also reached significant international attention. The tour will be guided by Alfred Wittstock, head of the Israel Study Unit, Department of Political Science at JGU.

Thursday 14 March 16:00–17:30, free of charge. Meet at the New Synagogue (Hindenburgstraße). To get there, take bus 62, 63 or 76 and get off at Synagogenplatz. To book, please email Jasmin Fitzpatrick on fitzpatrick@politik.uni-mainz.de

2012. 150 pp. Pb. 19,90 € (D), US$29.95, GBP 17.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0020-2

How well is the field of political studies doing and where is it headed? These questions are answered by this broad world overview of political science, its advances and shortcomings, along with prescriptions for the future in the first decades of the 20th century. The volume includes three world regional assessments of the discipline by senior scholars along with an in-depth survey of various sub-disciplinary fields and a concluding critical essay on the future of political studies.

Political Philosophy Now

Identity, Politics and the Novel:
The Aesthetic Moment
Ian Fraser
May 2013 • £90 • HB
9780708326060

This examination of novels by Kundera, McEwan, Houellebecq and Coetzee explores aesthetically our normative understanding of different forms of identity through the lens of political, philosophical and social theory from within the Marxist aesthetic tradition.

Kant on Sublimity and Morality
Joshua Rayman
July 2012 • £90 • HB
9780708321256

This book presents an argument to the essential moral significance of the Kantian sublime, and situates the discussion within the history of the relationship between sublimity and morality.

Politics and Metaphysics in Kant
Edited by Sorin Baiasu,
Howard Williams and Sami Pihlström
June 2011 • £100 • HB
9780708323779

This important book addresses the way in which the critical reaction to Consequentialism and the universalism of more recent theories trace their main sources of inspiration back to Kant's writings.

Poverty, Ethics and Justice
H.P.P. [Hennie] Lötter
June 2011 • £24.99 • New in Paperback
9780708325711

Poverty violates fundamental human values and drives against the core values of democratic societies. In this book, Lötter demonstrates why inequalities associated with poverty require our serious moral concern.

Imperfect Cosmopolis: Studies in the History of International Legal Theory and Cosmopolitan Ideas
Georg Cavallar
April 2011 • £27.99 • PB
9780708323823

This book assesses the notion of 'cosmopolitanism' from a decidedly historical perspective, providing depth and texture to the concept and focusing on often neglected aspects and issues.

Deleuze and Guattari: Aesthetics and Politics
Robert Porter
June 2009 • £75 • HB
9780708321591

This book analyses the relationship between art and social-political life. It considers how the aesthetic and political connect to each other in the context of the writings of Deleuze and Guattari.

John Gray and the problem of Utopia
John Hoffman
January 2009 • £75 • HB
9780708320266

This book challenges the traditionalist and problematic conception of utopia presented by John Gray, in the context of globalisation, war, violence and multiculturalism.

Comparative Politics Series from Oxford

Comparative Politics is a series for students, teachers, and researchers of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics. Global in scope, books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour. The series is published in association with the European

The series is edited by Professor David M. Farrell, School of Politics and International Relations, University College Dublin, Professor Kenneth Carty, University of British Columbia, and Professor Dirk Berg-Schlosser, Institute of Political Science, Philipps University, Marburg.

The Gendered Effects of Electoral Institutions

Political Engagement and Participation

Miki Caul Kittilson and Leslie A. Schwindt-Bayer

The Gendered Effects of Electoral Institutions argues that in most countries women continue to lag behind men in an array of political orientations and activities. Understanding this, and why some countries have been more successful than others in decreasing gender gaps, is imperative for producing stronger and more representative democracies.

Oct 2012 | 192 pages | Hardback | 978-0-19-960860-7 | £50.00

The Challenges of Intra-Party Democracy

Edited by William P. Cross and Richard S. Katz

The Challenges of Intra-Party Democracy provides a comprehensive examination of the costs and benefits of intra-party democracy and the issues parties must contend with in setting their own organizational norms.

Feb 2013 | 224 pages | Hardback | 978-0-19-966187-9 | £50.00

Parliaments and Coalitions

The Role of Legislative Institutions in Multiparty Governance

Lanny W. Martin and Georg Vanberg,
Winner of the APSA Richard F. Fenno Jr Prize 2012

Parliaments and Coalitions reveals that parliaments play a much more important role in policymaking in parliamentary systems than is usually acknowledged.

Apr 2013 | 192 pages | Paperback | 978-0-19-967478-7 | £22.99

If Money Talks, What Does it Say?

Corruption and Business Financing of Political Parties

Iain McMenamin

Why do businesses contribute to political parties? Is money a universal language? Do business contributions to political parties convey different messages in different countries? This book answers these questions based on intensive case studies of Australia, Canada, and Germany.

Feb 2013 | 192 pages | Hardback | 978-0-19-966570-9 | £50.00

Political Leaders and Democratic Elections

Edited by Kees Aarts, André Blais, and Hermann Schmitt

Based on extensive data sets from national election studies in nine major democracies, this book brings together leading experts to assess the impact of political leaders on voting patterns. This is the first major book-length treatment of the importance of leaders' personality on the outcome of democratic elections.

Mar 2013 | 256 pages | Paperback | 978-0-19-965056-9 | £22.99
Mar 2011 | 256 pages | Hardback | 978-0-19-925900-7 | £53.00

The Limits of Electoral Reform

Shaun Bowler and Todd Donovan

The Limits of Electoral Reform examines a variety of reforms, including campaign finance, direct democracy, legislative term limits, and changes to the electoral system itself. This study finds electoral reforms have limited, and in many cases, no effects. The findings here suggest there are hard limits to effects of electoral reform.

How to Run a Country

An Ancient Guide for Modern Leaders

Marcus Tullius Cicero

Selected, translated, and with an introduction
by Philip Freeman

An enlightening introduction to some of the most enduring political wisdom of all time, when capitalism's metaphysical moorings—in empire and industrialization—are buckling.

March 2013 Cloth £8.95 978-0-691-15657-6

Political Bubbles

FINANCIAL CRISES
AND THE FAILURE OF
AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

Nolan McCarty, Keith T. Poole,
& Howard Rosenthal

Political Bubbles

Financial Crises and the Failure of American Democracy

Nolan McCarty, Keith T. Poole & Howard Rosenthal

The first full accounting of how politics produces financial ruptures, Political Bubbles offers timely lessons that all sectors would do well to heed.

June 2013 Cloth £19.95 978-0-691-14501-3

Masters of the Universe

Hayek, Friedman, and the Birth of Neoliberal Politics

Daniel Stedman Jones

"Mr. Stedman Jones offers a novel and comprehensive history of neoliberalism. It is tarred neither by a reverence for the heroes, nor by caricature, for he is a fair and nuanced writer. This is a bold biography of a great idea."

Economist

Sept 2012 Cloth £24.95 978-0-691-15157-1

Two Cheers for Anarchism

Six Easy Pieces on Autonomy, Dignity, and Meaningful Work and Play

James C. Scott

Separating communism from its metaphysical foundations, the authors recast Marx's theories at a time when capitalism's metaphysical moorings—in empire and industrialization—are buckling.

Decoding Al-Qaeda's Strategy

The Deep Battle Against America

Michael W. S. Ryan

Decoding Al-Qaeda's Strategy

The Deep Battle Against America

Michael W. S. Ryan

Encouraging strategists and researchers to devote greater attention to Jihadi ideas rather than Jihadist military operations, Ryan constructs a more compelling counter-narrative to the West's supposed "war on Islam."

Aug 2013 Cloth £26.00 978-0-231-16384-2

Reforming Democracies

Six Facts About Politics That Demand a New Agenda

Douglas A. Chalmers

Expanding a traditional vision of the institutions of representative democracy, Douglas A. Chalmers examines six aspects of political practice relating to the people being represented, the structure of those who make law and policy, and the links between those structures and the people.

Jan 2013 Cloth £20.50 978-0-231-16294-4

China's Search for Security

Andrew J. Nathan and Andrew Scobell

Despite its impressive size and population, China remains a vulnerable nation surrounded by powerful rivals and potential foes. By illuminating the issues driving Chinese policy, the authors offer a new perspective on the country's rise and a strategy for balancing Chinese and American interests in Asia.

ECPR Standing Group on Political Parties
23rd PhD Summer School
7 – 22 September 2013
Leuphana Universität-Lüneburg

This year's theme is Political Parties and Democracy

Teaching staff include Liz Carter, Zsolt Enyedi, Richard S. Katz, Hans Keman, Wolfgang C. Müller,
Thomas Poguntke, Andrea Römmele, Ingrid van Biezen

Co-Directors Ferdinand Müller-Rommel, Kurt Richard Luther

First held in 1991, this annual Summer School brings together an international team of academics to teach 20 – 25 junior researchers. Its main aims include:

- giving junior researchers access to a wider range of academic approaches and expertise;
- stimulating closer academic co-operation between students by providing a multinational forum in which to discuss their research with students and teachers;
- encouraging junior researchers to produce high-level research with strong potential for future publication.

The fee for the Summer School is 750€. This covers tuition, accommodation and receptions in Lüneburg, as well as access to library and computing facilities.

The German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) has kindly agreed to provide 20 grants for researchers from outside Germany. These will cover return travel from participants' home country to Lüneburg; a three-day excursion to Berlin; travel to and accommodation in Berlin for that visit, as well as a guided tour of Hamburg.

Encouraging the training,
research, and cross-national co-operation of political scientists

Policy Making in Multilevel Systems

André Kaiser, Jan Biela and Annika Hennl, RRP £27.00

Does the territorial state organisation matter for effective policy making, and if so, in what way? This book tests the effects of different combinations of federal / unitary and decentralised / centralised structures of decision making and implementation.

This innovative study is bound to dominate debates in comparative federalism research for years to come – Professor Dr FW Scharpf, Emeritus Director, Max Planck Institute for the Studies of Societies

ISBN 9781907301339
242 pages, Jan 2012

Hans Kelsen and the Case for Democracy

Sandrine Baume, RRP £15.99

A contextual analysis of the famous jurist's political thought, exploring how Kelsen's political and legal theories are intertwined, and how he combines reflections on the democratic ideal with appreciation of a reality that is often far from that ideal.

The best work written about Kelsen's defence of democracy to date – Professor Richard Whatmore, Professor of Intellectual History and the History of Political Thought, University of Sussex

ISBN 9781907301247
90 pages, Dec 2012

Comparative Politics: the Problem of Equivalence

Jan W van Deth (Ed), RRP £34.00

Practical ways to tackle the problems of comparability and equivalence, covering different approaches, methods, data and countries. A new introduction from the Editor examines developments in the field over the last twenty years.

An updated and expanded examination of equivalence that charts a pragmatic 'middle road' between universality and relativity – Professor Todd Landman, Director, Institute for Democracy and Conflict Resolution, University of Essex

308 pages, Jan 2013

for 2013

A Political Sociology of Transnational Europe

Niilo Kauppi (Ed), RRP £65.00

Globalisation and complex Europeanisation have contributed to a restructuring of the European nation-state and a redefinition of political power. These cutting-edge, theoretically ambitious studies deal with the major challenges European societies, and politics, are facing.

Brings together an all-star cast of political sociologists who present refreshing and different approaches – George Ross,

Faculty associate, Minda de Gunzburg Center for European Studies, Harvard University

ISBN 9781907301346

298 pages, Feb 2013

The Political Ecology of the Metropolis

Jefferey Sellers, Daniel Kübler, Alan Walks, Melanie Walter-Rogg, RRP £65.00

The first international comparative analysis of metropolitan political behaviour. The results support a powerful new thesis to explain many recent shifts in political behaviour: the metropolitanisation of politics.

Virtuoso work of comparative politics... A must-read for all those interested in the geography of politics –

Professor John Mollenkopf, The Graduate Center, City University of New York

ISBN 9781907301377

540 pages, Feb 2013

New Nation-States and National Minorities

Julien Danero Iglesias (Ed), Nenad Stojanović (Ed), Sharon Weinblum (Ed), RRP £65.00

Relationships between nation states and national minorities, examined from the perspective of the authorities and the minorities themselves. Case studies include Belarus, Poland, Moldova, Israel and Malaysia.

Sheds refreshing light on state-building processes, minorities' mobilisation and inter-group relations – Professor

Alain Dieckhoff, Head of the Department of Political Science, Sciences Po, Paris

ISBN 9781907301360

294 pages, Feb 2013

41st anniversary special – 41% OFF RRP
